I am not suicidal and would never harm my children, but I cannot take great care of my kids when I'm crying all day with zero energy and cannot eat.

In fact, including statin's case, some path-breaking drugs developed in Japan are based on researchers' informal research activities called as "yami-kenkyu."